Improve Efficiencey with user-friendly web or mobile software • Increase the bottom line by reducing order errors

Increase The Bottom Line

We have developed a user interface that accurately records the location of inventory and materials equipped with RFID tags. Items are automatically tracked and logged as they move about in a predetermined perimeter. This one point of entry approval process eliminates costly human error. Our employee tracking system creates a level of security to limit exposure and liability of unapproved employees in secure locations.

Security and Safety Component

RF Identity streamlines your business process allowing for a flow of information when the order was placed until it leaves the facility. RF Identity's inventory system tracks your supplies to ensure they remain at a level for optimal operation. This gives management the tools it needs to keep business running smoothly and eliminates overstocking.

Tracking Daily Production

RF Identity eliminates the challenge of order verification. Our tracking solution delivers instant order information starting when the order arrives at the office. Your order status can easily be pulled up allowing the customer to maintain their schedule for on-time delivery. The contents of your order will be instantly verified prior to shipment. In return, this eliminates costly reshipping and over packing, creating an immediate return on investment.

Automatically Track Extra Work

Improve security and reduce risks when time counts. In the event of an evacuation or emergency, every second counts. RF Identity will help first responders determine who is accounted for and who needs to be found. The software can provide near real time data of last known locations within a pre-determinied perimeter. Our products are guaranteed to increase visibility, compliance, and productivity or we will return your money.

Billing System

Through an advanced financial component, companies can manage acount receivables to the customer. Our billing module allows for a quick turnaround by automatically sending invoices through our user interface. Customized export to accounting is the final layer, thereby eliminating all manual data entry.
